

MESSAGE FROM THE PREMIER OF QUEENSLAND

The Queensland Government is proud to again support the celebration of our State's cultural heritage through its support of the 2008 Queensland Heritage Festival.

As one of the State's signature heritage events, the festival plays an important role in encouraging community involvement in the celebration of Queensland's unique cultural heritage.

With more than 150 events spread across Queensland, the Queensland Heritage Festival will provide everyone with the perfect opportunity to do this.

This year's festival is themed 'Coming to Queensland' and will showcase Queensland's people, places and stories.

The Queensland Government is pleased to support the National Trust of Queensland in its mission to conserve and promote our State's cultural heritage.

I thank all councils, organisations and communities for their involvement and support for the Festival.

I encourage all Queenslanders to celebrate our State's rich and diverse cultural heritage by attending one of the many events and activities that will be taking place as part of the 2008 Queensland Heritage Festival.
